Dear Laura,

This is to follow-up on our discussion in June regarding the formaldehyde exposure studies and cancer mortality. As agreed during that call, we are sending to you a draft of our discussion of those studies in response to the NRC committee review of the draft assessment. We would appreciate if you could review it for accuracy in our portrayal of the information in the published studies and the information that you provided during the conference call. We have a few clarifying questions and a request for some analytical results which are listed in this email and in the attached document.

Thank you very much for your time and assistance.

Regards, Barbara Glenn
